The project involves the adoption of an integrated ecosystem of digital solutions aimed at making operational activities and the management of information flows along the supply chain more efficient, secure and fully compliant with European regulations. To support document management, the project includes the adoption of the Accudire ExAc solution for the generation and management of digital transport documents such as e-CMR and e-DDT, alongside Milos® e-CMR / e-DDT connector, developed to ensure full interoperability with third-party platforms on the market and enable the automated acquisition of documents issued by other parties involved in the supply chain, reducing time, operating costs and margins of error.

The contract also provides for the activation of the Milos® eFTI platform, a solution designed to ensure compliance with the European eFTI Regulation (EU 1056/2022) and to enable, when required, the structured and secure sharing of data with the Public Administration, anticipating regulatory developments in the field of digital transport and logistics.

The initiative is part of a broader supply chain digitalisation process and also responds to the objectives of efficiency, interoperability and sustainability promoted by funding programmes dedicated to the logistics sector, confirming Circle Group's role as a leading technology partner for complex and intermodal operators.
